

A dramatic photograph of a shark breaching the ocean's surface. The shark's dark, sleek body is partially visible as it cuts through the water, with its dorsal fin prominently arched. A massive splash of white, frothy water erupts around the shark, contrasting sharply with the deep, dark blue of the surrounding sea. The water in the foreground shows ripples and a wake, suggesting the viewer is on a boat. The overall mood is one of raw power and natural beauty.
